What a way to end the year, it was almost spring like weather and no wind to speak of. The day started out with a little haze in the air, but around 2:00 it cleared up. Some good scores were shot today. John Marhefka with a 36, Haley Pearsall with a 35, looks like Haley finely got out of his slump, and Anthony Schaapman with a 33. This young fellow (17 years old) is out to kick the butts of us old f--ts. Anthony, keep up the good work. We had a couple of brain f--ts today, Mike Johnson left his ammo at home, I guess I will be sending him an e-mail the day before the match, to make sure he has everything packed. Then there is Dwight, I know this is a first, he is shooting black powder. Now mind you I did not witness this, but I was told he was on the line shooting, got thirsty, instead of drinking his chocolate milk; he took a swig of moose milk. For all of you that don't shoot black powder, moose milk is used to swab out the bore of your rifle. It is comprised of water-soluble oil, water, and Murphy oil soap. Dwight, I sure hope you made it back to Northern Virginia ok.. There are times like this that makes being a match director worthwhile. I guess Dwight will let us know if it makes a good laxative. Now, let's not forget Frances and her famous brownies, if Frances ever stops bring brownies, I sure hope she lets me know. I do not want to be around twenty-five grown men going through chocolate withdraws.

I would like to thank everyone for making 2012 a very good year. I could not have done it without your help and input. This is your shoot; you made it what it is today. You're a great bunch of guys and gals, and you can take this for what it is worth, "There is not an ass hole in the whole bunch". Over the past year we had 272 shooters on line, last year (2011) we had 234, so we are growing.

I would like to wish everybody a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year
