I really don't know how to describe Saturday. All I can say it was fffffff_ _ king cold! When I got home after we had lunch at the Hickory Notch Grill, and yes, Bill James made sure we got the table right in front of the fireplace. When I arrived at home I unloaded everything and built a fire in the fireplace, got in the recliner and went to sleep, did not wake up till 4:00 AM Sunday morning. Now back to the match. The temperature was tipping around 19 degrees. Those who were shooting black powder and swabbing between shots were having a little bit of a problem. The moose milk and the wet patches were freezing. I had to split the frozen patches apart with knife and put them in my coat pocket with six hand warmers to keep them from freezing up. Ken Burklow brought his own heater, if my eyes were not deceiving me, though I saw him standing over it when he was shooting and when he was scoring it was under the table next to his legs. The rest of the poor soles had to huddle around the one patio heater we had. I think I will get a second one, what do you think? Let's not forget Frances and her brownies, by the way Frances and Brian will becoming Cavalier members next week. We had a new shooter with us today, Chris Willey; he is Ken Burklow's son-in-law, hope to see you back with us.

There was some dam fine scores shot today, you know there was only a six-point spread between tenth and first place. We had three shoot offs; for first, second, and third also for tenth and fifteenth places. George Logan had to leave, ammo problems. You know he was setting in front of a fireplace as we froze our asses off. Al Riggs did not shoot with us today because he had his hernia repaired on Thursday. Al, take care of yourself and we will see you in March. No buffalo match was shot today, to cold.

The next Ram Bash this month will be at the Fairfax Rod and Gun Club on February 24th, that's on a Sunday. The contact person is Dwight Hlustick Phone # 703-931-6290. The next Cavalier Ram Bash will be on March 2nd, see you there.
